Queen "Lif" has not left her room since her arrival, and all social invitations have her arrival, and all social invitations have her arrival, and all social invitations have been refused. It is said that her condition is not alarming, but that she thinks it advisable not to go to any exertion. It is believed that a cold is primarily the cause of her indisposition, and that within a few weeks she will be herself again.

Those who speculate on causes of things are wondering whether the short stay of the Hawailan royal party in the city is not due to disappointment or pique at the failure of the Exposition to treat them with more consideration than has been shown.

Inquiry of the Entertainment Department of the Fair reveals the fact that no programme of entertainment has been planned fow Queen "Lil's" party, and that while she is welcome at the Fair, no official cognizance of her visit will be taken by the Exposition officials. John M. Rattan arrived at the Indian reservation yesterday with Edwin Ya-nogha, wife and baby; Martine and daughter, Alice Martine and son and Carlo Kame and mother, of Geronimo's band of 236, which the Government holds as prisoners of war at Fort Sill.

Geronimo's wife died last week, but he isn't wearing crape for her, so her demise did not figure in preventing him from coming to the World's Fair. It was all dollars with the old warrior. When he found out that he could not get $100 a month, and only $55, he refused to go, Captain Sayre of the United States Army, who is in charge of the guards of the Geronimo band, could have compelled the old chief to go, but decided that he would not do so. If Geronimo wants to ome, it rests with Doctor McGowan, in charge of the Indian exhibit, and Captain charge of the Indian exhibit, and Captain Sayre. It is probable that they will not permit him to come now.

Hattan is one of the old Indian scouts, and it was he who, in 1886, was largely instrumental in getting Geronimo to surrender with his bloodthirsty warriors to General Miles, Rattan has since been the personal guard of Geronimo and had charge of him at Jacksonville, Fia, and brought him to Fort Sill.

Rattan is reticent and refuses to discuss the stirring campaigns against the great war chief of the Apaches, but his friends say that he was the one that made the old warrior give up his career of blood. Geronimo is 71 years old While a prisoner of war he is allowed considerable freedom. The Indians at the Fair were with him in Arisona and are also prisoners of war. The Apaches that are held by the Government at Fort Sill are farmers and earn their own money, the Government only partly supporting them.

Fair next week.

Several members of the association suggested the plan of having the association entertain all of the newspaper men, but after some discussion it was decided that the only practicable plan of caring for so large a number of representatives of the press would be to let each State entertain its own delegates.

While some of the State buildings cannot be put in condition to offer facilities for entertaining the newspaper men, most of them will be ready, and such States as have not finished their buildings will arrange to entertain their delegates somewhere else.

"I shall take our delegates down the Pike," said Executive Commissioner B. A. Enloe of Tennersee, "and when I get through with them, you may depend upon it that they will be in excellent humor and will have nothing but words of praise for the Louisiana Exposition."

The Commissioners representing States that have completed their buildings extended informal invitations to all other Commissioners and officials of the Exposition to attend the entertainments given to the press at the State buildings.

INCIDENTS REGARDING SAVAGES AT THE FAIR.

It was generally supposed that when the they were buried just the same as any bodies are being held by a St. Louis undertaker until the Igorrotes return to their islands, when the bodies will be take along and interred in their native ground. It was one of the understandings between the Igorrotes and Governor Hunt that anybody who died in America would be buried in the Philippines and the Gov-ernor is holding to the promise.

This is Ascension Day and a Catholic holiday, therefore there will be no work done by the Filipino constabulary and scotts who are Catholics, and scores of other Filipinos at the Philippine concession, most of whom were made Catholics by the Spaniards. There will be services held this morning in the dining-room of the Cuartei and it will be a general holiday among the Filipinos. The Igorrotes, who have no religion, and the Moros, who are followers of Mohammed, will work, as usual, to-day.

Being Mohammedans, the Moros rise with the sun every morning and, turning their backs to the sun so as to have their face towards Mecca, say their prayers. This is something that isn't overlooked, and those who are looking after the Moros are glad of the religion, for they don't have to worry about getting the Moros up mornings. There is to be a wedding among the Moros soon, and the feasting and rejoicing has already begun. There are two new additions to the Moro colony expected soon, but they will be so small that they can't be used for anything except curios.

A young woman went up to the Wichite Indian grass house yesterday and asked the old Chief in charge if she could step in and look around. He critically inspected her and then shook his head:
"Squaw clothes!" he ciaculated,
That shows that the Wichitas don't be lieve in the equality of the sexes.

Eight Comanches reached the Anthropological reservation yesterday from Ok lahoms. They are part of the old-time fighting Comanches and are added to Doctor McGowan's collection of fighters that are in retirement because of a disposition on the part of the Government to end border warfare among the Indians. In Oklahoma parlance, each of the braves has a notch or two on his gun and would be perfectly willing to shoulder a gun and reduce the white population of the United States if the Government didn't

Among the other curios that will be hown in the Ethnology building of the Philippine concession are several official execution bolos. These blades are of steel

A photographer tried to get a picture of the Lanao Moros, Monday. Luckliy C. H. Wax, in charge of the Moros, was near by, and he rattled off a few yards of Moro talk to the dozen who started for the photographer, and thereby saved the pic-ture man's life. The leader in the con-templated murder of the photographer was arrested and tied in his bunk in the Cuartel for two days.

The Igorrotes gave one of their flere dances yesterday morning in their village. There was a beating of their native drums and chants that simply made the best bal-let Belasco ever invented look like a tin-soldier parade. There was a large crowd of visitors. They will have another dance probably Saturday, when Governor Hunt hopes to secure a sufficient number of dogs to give his Igorrotes a first-class meal.
